

BURGLARS BLOW UP SAFE; WRECK A POST-OFFICE

Force of Explosion Rocks Every House in Harrison, N. Y.

FLY WITHOUT BOOTY.

Leave Interior of Building a Wreck—Postmaster Robbed a Few Months Ago.

Three burglars blew the safe in the post office at Harrison, N. Y., last night. The explosion woke up everybody in town and the burglars fled without securing any booty.

Harrison is one of the little towns on the Sound shore, above New Rochelle. The post office building is on the main street in the heart of the community, but Harrison is a lonesome town after 10 o'clock at night and the burglars encountered no opposition in entering the building and drilling the door of the safe.

They inserted a charge of nitro glycerine with the intention of demolishing the combination. From the explosion that ensued it would appear that they poured in their explosive from a bucket. The heavy door of the safe, torn from its hinges, sailed across the office, demolished a large clock and bored a big hole in the wall. The report was like that of a big cannon and every building in Harrison rocked.

A. E. Lambert, who lives across the street from the post office, was awakened by the noise. Grabbing a revolver, he ran to his front window in time to see three men legging it down the street.

from the post office. He fired three shots at them, without effect, except to more thoroughly arouse the inhabitants. Fortunately for Postmaster Raus, the force of the explosion was outward and the inner door of the safe was not damaged. He had the receipts for the month, his supply of stamps and some of his own money behind that fencer of the interior of the post-office was completely wrecked.

It is believed that the Harrison safe was blown by a gang that has been robbing post-offices in the suburbs of New York for the past three months, cleaning up about two jobs a week. They have no superstitious scruples about robbing the same place twice.

Postmaster Raus was robbed about six months ago by a couple of confidence men. One of them, representing himself to be a post-office inspector, called on the postmaster and told him that the department was about to purchase him a nice big safe for the front of the building.

"Now," said the stranger, after the postmaster had decided upon a gold safe with black lettering, "we'll just step outside and see where is the best place to put it."

"They stepped outside and examined the building from half a dozen angles. Then the stranger excused himself, saying he had to catch a train, and Postmaster Raus went back to his duties to discover that during his absence somebody had entered the back door and robbed the open safe of $1500.

CONSTABLE KILLS TWO IN FIGHT TO HOLD PRISONER

LEBANON, Pa., Dec. 19.—Constable James Dolan went into the Hungarian settlement to arrest coal thieves who have been preying on the Reading Railway's supply. The foreigners turned out en masse and set upon the officer, who in self-defense shot into the crowd, killing two men, both Hungarians. Dolan is in custody, but public sentiment favors his early release.

The foreign district is on the outskirts of Lebanon. Dolan went there alone last night against the advice of those better acquainted with the vicinity. After he had arrested his man, fifty foreigners aided in the latter's rescue and closed upon the officer, beating him. He then fired into the party and two men fell. Dolan shot through the heart. Both were married and had large families.

TO BRING ROMER SUSPECT TO ORANGE

Police Believe Negro's Arrest in Philadelphia Clears Mystery.

Detective John Drabell, of Orange, N. J., went to Philadelphia today to file a complaint against George Williams, alias Wilson, alias Coe, the negro who was arrested there yesterday on suspicion of being the murderer of Frederick R. Romer, who was found dead in his room in the Park Hotel last Friday.

It will be necessary to procure requisition papers, before Williams may be brought to Orange, and this will cause some delay. Chief Washer said he had not the slightest doubt that the right man was arrested.

The prisoner is said to have sold a diamond ring to a dealer in Philadelphia for $100. This ring is said to be the $250 ring taken from the hand of the murdered man by his slayer.

It is also said that a letter was found on the prisoner from a woman asking for "half the goods he got out of it."

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 19.—George Wilson, alias Williams, who was arrested here on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of Frederick Romer, was given a hearing today and held to await the arrival of a detective from Orange. He admitted being five from Orange. He admitted being in Orange, but claimed to have left before Romer was murdered. A pawnbroker identified the prisoner as the man who pined a diamond ring belonging to the murdered man for $100.

MAJOR CURRY, U. S. A., KILLED

ATLANTA, Dec. 19.—Maj. Manley B. Curry, paymaster in the Department of the Gulf and son-in-law of Senator Bacon, of Georgia, was killed last night by being thrown from an automobile over the railing guarding the underpass of the Washington street viaduct. Major Curry had been in the regular army since the Spanish-American war. His father was Dr. J. L. M. Curry, of Richmond, former United States Ambassador to Spain.

JURY HARD TO GET FOR POLICEMAN'S SLAYER.

Three Days of Examining Talesmen in Case of Morse, Who Shot His Captor.

A jury was secured in the Brooklyn County Court today to try William Morse, a negro, for the murder of Policeman Edward J. Kavanagh at Willowburgh and Gold streets, Brooklyn, on the evening of Nov. 14.

Morse shot Kavanagh while escaping from arrest. He was later captured and barely saved from lynching.

Three days' delay was encountered in getting a jury, as sixty-five out of the 125 talesmen examined, did not believe in the death penalty, and fifty-four declared, if they had their way, all dangerous negroes would be lynched on sight.

Fat Folks at Unique Luncheon

Newport Hostess Turns Beauty Doctor and Tells Guests How to Lose 20 Pounds of Excess Fat a Month

It has just leaked out that Mrs. G. Sylvester Bourin's mysterious luncheon invitations of last week, which described the function as a select affair for those only who were over "100," referred not to the age of the guests but to their weight.

The luncheon was wittily entitled the "Emancipation Luncheon," but the significance of this title was not clear until it was discovered today that at this luncheon Mrs. Bourin told the secret of getting thin without the necessity for the usual punishing diet usually prescribed by the doctors. At each plate, commencing among the fern and orchid decorations, the guests found a dairy engraved card on which was inscribed the following: "Be of Marcella's or Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and Syrup Simplex. Nothing more. To the inquiring puzzled glances of her guests Mrs. Bourin replied by a few words of explanation. The receipt on these cards, she said, was a simple one for the secret or home treatment of excessive fat. It was harmless and pleasant, she declared, and she earnestly advised all her over-fat friends to preserve the formula, for it made a mixture that would, if taken in teaspoonful portions after meals and at bedtime, not only take off from one-half to a pound of fat a day, but preserve the natural beautiful outline of the figure in short, prevent wrinkles. She concluded by saying she had gathered them as this as they cared to be without dieting, exercise or taking the waters, emancipated, in other words, of their over-abundant fat and from the restrictions of the beauty specialist and obesity doctor at one and the same time.

A Fish is as Good as it's Cooked

When properly cooked and served there is nothing more pleasing to hungry mortals' gustatory sense than a nice fresh fish. There's a great variety of fish and an almost equal variety of methods of cooking and serving fish; but no matter how you cook it, a small quantity of ARMOUR'S EXTRACT OF BEEF added to the sauce will lend a piquancy and relish that can be obtained in no other way.

If your dishes lack "tastability," try Armour's Extract of Beef—the kind that has taste-ability.

"THE BEST EXTRACT OF THE BEST BEEF"
